VOL. XXII. ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1908. NO. 10

TAFT WINS BIG VICTORY

Republican Candidate is Overwhelmingly Choice of Country

BRYAN GOES DOWN IN DEFEAT FOR THIRD TIME

Solid South Faithful to Democratic Nominee--City of Lincoln and State of Nebraska Also Give Him Majority, but So-Called "Doubtful" States are in Republican Column

New York, Nov. 4.—William Howard Taft of Ohio, Republican, has been elected twenty-seventh president of the United States, and James Schoolcraft Sherman of New York has been chosen vice-president. This is the outcome of one of the most remarkable political campaigns in the history of the republic.

William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, the Democratic candidate, went down in the third defeat of his life's ambition to occupy the White House.

Among the more significant results were the re-election to congress of Speaker Cannon and Chairman Sereno

James S. Sherman.

E. Payne of the house committee on ways and means; the election of Representative W. S. Cowherd as governor of Missouri, which therewith returns to the "solid south," and the re-election for a third term of Gov. John Johnson, democrat, in Minnesota.

One of the results surpassing the most sanguine hopes of most Republicans was Mr. Taft's carrying the greater city of New York by a plurality which approached 10,000. Furthermore, his plurality in New York state will be approximately 189,334, exceeding by nearly 14,000 Roosevelt's big plurality of 1904.

Only second in point of general interest was the victory of Gov. Charles E. Hughes, who was re-elected by a plurality estimated as well above 75,000 over the vote cast for his Democratic opponent, Lieut. Gov. Chanler. While Greater New York gave a plurality for Taft, it gave Chanler a margin of 56,843.

With 31 United States senators to be elected by legislatures chosen now or earlier in the fall. The Republicans will retain their control of both houses of congress.

Mr. Taft carried practically every so-called doubtful state except Nebraska, where Mr. Bryan was victorious. Mr. Bryan carried Nevada and Montana, in addition to the solid south, which includes Missouri.

Republican Pluralities Reduced.

Some of the figures relating to the Republican slump in certain states regarded as certainly Republican, are little short of amazing. Pennsylvania's immense plurality of over 500,000 four years ago nas been cut in two. Illinois, which gave Roosevelt 305,000 in 1904, has gone for Taft by about 170,000. The highest claim of the Republicans for Indiana is 15,000 as against a plurality of 93,000 for Roosevelt.

Iowa, which gave Mr. Roosevelt 158,000 plurality in 1904, has dropped down to about 57,000 for Taft. The return of Missouri to the Democracy on the presidential ticket wiped out a Republican plurality of 25,000 four years ago. Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey were striking exceptions to the generally reduced Republican pluralities.

Chairman Hitchcock's Statement.

Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock of the Republican national committee made the following statement:

"The returns speak for themselves. There seem to be no longer any doubtful states. The electoral vote will show that my estimate was correct. It looks now, I think, as if I must have underestimated it. The returns have exceeded my expectations.

"The plurality in Indiana will be less than I expected. That in Illinois is far more than anticipated. And so it goes: where one state has not quite come up to the figures I had expected some other state has gone far beyond. The latest returns from Maryland indicate that we have carried that state by about 8,000 to 10,000 and that is more than I believed it would give.

Taft Congratulates Hitchcock.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Judge Taft at 9:10 p. m. sent the following telegram to Frank H. Hitchcock: "I am delighted to hear the favorable returns from all parts of the country, especially New York, and I wish to express my gratitude to you for the work which you have done and felicitate you on the accuracy with which you foretold the result indicating a clear grasp and wonderful political knowledge of the situation.—William H. Taft."

Gov. Hughes wired Judge Taft at 8:30 o'clock: "Heartiest congratulations on your splendid victory."

Chairman Hitchcock was heard from as early as 6:30 o'clock. He said: "Hearty congratulations on magnificent vote."

Daniel J. Keefe sent this message: "Congratulations on your splendid victory. Labor voters appreciate and recognize their real friends."

LANDSLIDE FOR TAFT—HOWELL.

Georgia Democratic Leader Comments on the Result.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—At 10:20 Tuesday night, Clark Howell, national Democratic committeeman from Georgia, conceded the election of Mr. Taft. Mr. Howell gave the Associated Press the following statement:

"It is a landslide for Taft. Mr. Bryan has made a wonderful campaign, but he could not overcome the prevailing idea that business conditions would be adversely affected by Republican defeat. It is now up to the Republicans to make good their pledge to restore prosperity, for to that pledge they must attribute their success more than anything else. Mr. Taft is a big, broad, patriotic American, and he will be fair and just to the south."

Returns Received in Havana.

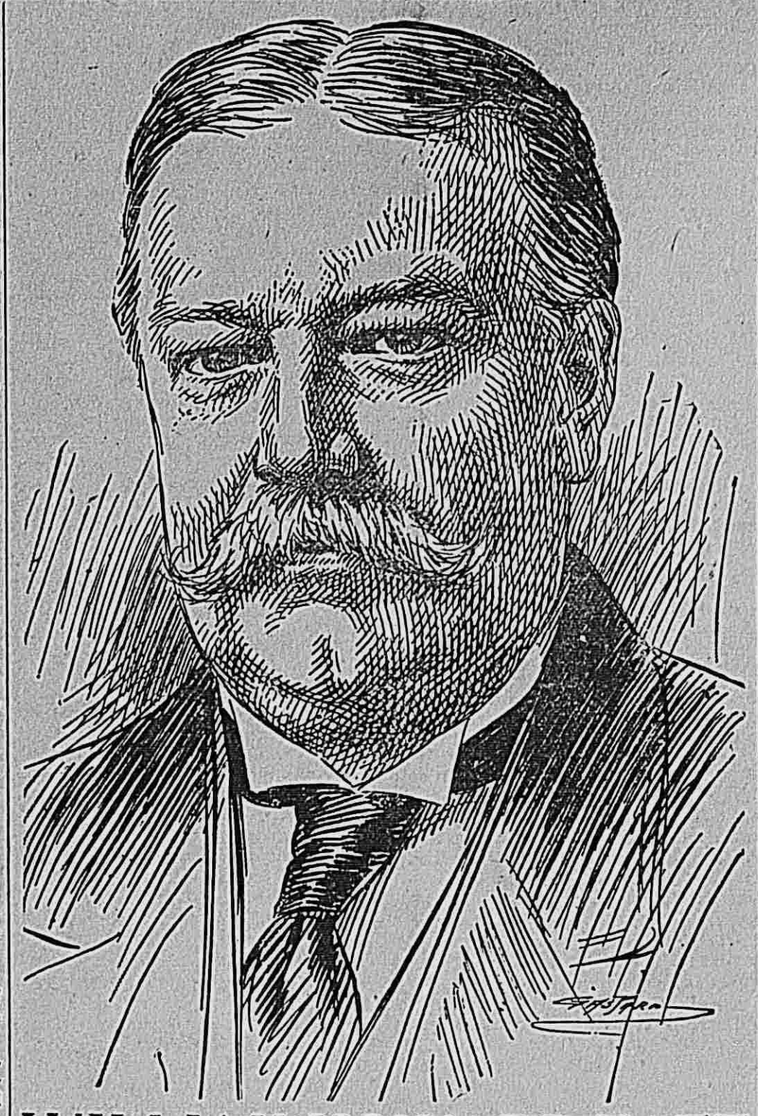

Havana, Nov. 4.—The election returns were received at the newspaper offices, Camp Columbia, the Officials' club and the American club. Gov. Magoon held a reception at the palace, which was attended by many American and Cuban officials, and at which the returns were read. Early in the evening the governor sent congratulatory messages to the president-elect

Race Track Enemy Re-Elected.

New York, Nov. 4.—Otto G. Foelker, the state senator who arose from a sick bed to go to Albany last spring and cast the deciding ballot which made possible the passage of Gov. Hughes' anti-race track betting laws, was elected to congress Tuesday from the Third district (Brooklyn) as a Republican.

Confidence.

Confidence is a plant of slow growth n an aged bosom.—Chatham.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 4.—The indications are that the entire delegation in congress will be Republican, a gain of one over two years ago. There is a close race in the Sixth district between Hamilton, present incumbent (Dem.), and Kendall (Rep.).

The indications are that Cummings has defeated Lacey for the United States senatorship.

Taft's plurality in Iowa is announced as 57,000.

Payne to Introduce New Tariff Bill.

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The election of Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee in the house of representatives means that Mr. Payne will organize the tariff work of the next congress and will introduce the new tariff bill.

SAFELY REPUBLICAN

Senate and House Remain in Control of Party.

VICTORY FOR "JOE" CANNON

Speaker of the House Has Majority in His District of About 8,000—Democrats Have Not Made Gains They Hoped For—Summary of Results.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Latest election returns indicate that the house of representatives is still heavily Republican, with a majority on divison of 49. The Republican membership in the Sixty-first congress is 218, while the Democrats show only 173. The membership of the house is 391, and the majority necessary for control is 196.

Gains were made by the Republicans in North Carolina, Iowa and New York. The Democrats gained one district in Illinois, the Eighth, where Thomas Gallagher was elected to succeed Congressman McGavin. Republicans gain a district in Pennsylvania heretofore held by Democrats.

Speaker Cannon was re-elected by a majority of from 6,000 to 10,000. Congressmen Hepburn, Hull, Dalzell, Payne and other leaders of national importance who had hard fights were all successful.

The districts on which the Democrats relied to increase their present strength have, in most instances, returned Republicans.

Practically No Change in Senate.

The senate will show practically no change in political complexion, the Republicans retaining a large majority. The membership of the senate is 92, the hold-over members number 61 (43 Republicans and 18 Democrats). The election of 17 Republicans and 13 Democrats, as seems probable from the returns giving the make-up of the various legislatures which elects senators, would show the strength of the two leading parties in the senate to be: Republicans, 60; Democrats, 31; doubtful, 1.

State Legislature Republican.

The next Illinois state legislature will be Republican again. The greatest surprise in the state fight came in the defeat of State Senator Orville F. Berry for re-election in the Thirty-second district. He was defeated by James F. Gibson (Dem).

Berry was head of the "senate combine" and was recognized as the successor of Daniel Campbell, as the leader after Campbell's retirement to accept the postmastership of Chicago.

Cannon Re-Elected.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 4.—Joseph G. Cannon has been re-elected to congress by a plurality considerably above the normal. Returns are still incomplete, but enough figures have been obtained to show that he will probably have a plurality of at least 10,500. This is estimated to be in the different counties in his district as follows: Vermilion, 6,000; Iroquois, 1,500; Kankakee, 2,000; Edgar, 700; Clark, 200; and Cumberland, 100. The result has been something of a surprise even to the friends of Mr. Cannon. The fight made against him by various church organizations, the Anti-Saloon League and organized labor, coupled with the fact that the Democrats had for the first time since 1863 a complete organization in this district, led the Republicans to believe that Mr. Cannon's plurality would not be over 3,000.

A POST MARITAL ROMANCE

SYNOPSIS.

The Escapade opens, not in the romance preceding the marriage of Ellen Slocum, a Puritan miss, and Lord Carrington of England, but in their life after settling in England. The scene is placed, just following the revolution, in Carrington castle in England. The Carringtons, after a house party, engaged in a family tilt, caused by jealousy. Lord Carrington and his wife each made charges of faithlessness against the other in continuation of the quarrel. First objecting against playing cards with the guests, Lady Carrington agreed to cut cards with Lord Strathgate, whose attentions to Ellen had become a sore point with Carrington. The loss of $100,000 failed to perturb her, and her husband then cut for his wife's I. O. U. and his honor, Carrington winning. The incident closed except that a liking for each other apparently arose between Lady Carrington and Lord Strathgate. Additional attentions of Lord Carrington to Lady Cecily and Lord Strathgate to Lady Carrington compelled the latter to vow that she would leave the castle. Preparing to flee, Lady Carrington and her chum Deborah, an American girl, met Lord Strathgate at two a. m., he agreeing to see them safely away. Ellen fled, Strathgate driving. He attempted to take her to his castle, but she left him stunned in the road when the carriage met with an accident. She and Debbie then struck out for Portsmouth, where she intended to sail for America. Hearing news of Ellen's flight, Lords Carrington and Seton set out in pursuit. Seton, locating a fishing village, hit the trail of Ellen and Debbie. He then rented a fast vessel and started in pursuit, Carrington pursuing Strathgate. Strathgate, bleeding from fall, dashed on to Portsmouth, for which Carrington, Ellen and Seton were also headed by different routes.

CHAPTER X.

The Bewilderment of Strathgate.

As my Lord Carrington rode with increasing satisfaction and Sir Charles Seton sailed in a growing sense of self-congratulation in that he alone was on the right track, my lord of Strathgate was full of bewilderment. Like Carrington, he, too, made inquiries at every posting station, at every wayside inn, from every passerby, as to the whereabouts of the two who had escaped him, and everywhere he had been met by an absolute lack of information.

Strathgate, by hard riding, reached Portsmouth about nightfall. Carrington was not to arrive, although he pressed on all night, until the following morning. Strathgate was morally certain that the people he was chasing could not have reached Portsmouth before him.

Therefore, although he had been up all the night before and wanted sleep badly, he determined to make some inquiries before he went to bed. He found, to his great surprise, that the New Eagle, which was the name of the ship owned by the countess of Carrington, had sailed that morning. So far fortune favored him, for Lady Ellen would arrive at Portsmouth, he thought, and find her ship gone.

He enlisted the service of the landlord and secured a number of men whom he posted at the various inns, with instructions to notify him immediately in case Ellen and Deborah arrived.

Carrington, plunging along on exhausted, half-foundered horses, the leavings of Strathgate, lost the comparative cheerfulness of the morning and worked himself up into such a fury that if he had come across the earl he would probably have killed him out of hand without giving him a chance for defense.

The only one thoroughly satisfied with the situation was Seton, and even his dash eastward was stopped, for the wind, which had held briskly for the greater part of the day, died out about nightfall and left the gallant captain helplessly tossing in the short waves of the channel.

To hearten up her young friend, Ellen put a brave face upon the whole matter. She pointed out to her how comfortable and free from pursuit, or interference, they would be when they boarded the New Eagle at Portsmouth; what a pleasant voyage they would have back; and made various other suggestions to cheer her young comrade and to fight down the growing dismay in her own heart. It was only by constantly holding up before herself the picture of my lord and Lady Cecily in each other's arms in the arbor that she kept herself to the pitch of her adventure.

She found herself thinking wistfully of the happy days of the past; of the many pleasant cruises which they had made in these very waters. What a gallant, devoted, royal lover he had been! How she hated Cecily Carrington! She looked at herself and took a mental inventory of that she could not see and wondered how he could for a moment prefer that weak and vapid creature to his wife.

And yet it is probable that Ellen had never loved Carrington as she did while tossing about in that little open boat, a lonely speck upon the sea, munching dry hard bread and drinking tepid water and trying to console the whimpering little maiden by her side.

And it is possible, too, that Lord Carrington never realized how much he was in imminent danger of losing and how much the loss meant to him as he plunged along through the darkness on the way to Portsmouth.

Ellen had advanced much farther on her journey when she ran into the calm which later overtook Seton.

All Ellen's ready money, except what she carried on her person, had been left to Carrington in the cheque on her desk, but she still retained control of several stout merchantmen which had come to her from her father and the New Eagle was the best of them. Once she set foot on the docks of that ship, she would be perfectly safe. Meanwhile, as she had been up practically all the night before, she felt that she must have some slumber.

She furled the sail of the little boat, turned the tiller over to Debbie with instructions for her to let the shallop drift and to waken Ellen in two hours by the watch.

It was very lonely and miserable for poor Debbie. She was flying like Ellen from that she loved best, but unlike Ellen there was no reason on earth for her to break away. It was only the constraint put upon her by the stronger will that had brought her to this wretched pass. She sat idly in the stern sheets, holding the tiller, while the tears trickled down her pretty red cheeks. She wished that she were anywhere else under heaven than in this boat. She looked at Ellen almost malevolently, surveying her slight and boyish figure with a venomous glance and the thought that since clothes of the other sex so well became her, Ellen should have been born a man.

Poor Debbie felt very wretched and very lonely tossing idly about in the quiet seas under the calm stars. She wondered if Sir Charles did really love her as she had more than once indicated, or whether he were like the faithless Carrington and the insidious Strathgate.

There was nothing to do except to look out for passing vessels and she had plenty of time for silent thought about her past, her present and her future.

CHAPTER XI.

The Mad Chase.

Lord Strathgate was early abroad, which proves the keenness of his interest in the chase. His agents reported to him at daybreak, but had no news of their quest. No one remotely resembling the fugitives had been seen during the night. Although he had breakfasted and day had scarcely dawned, Strathgate could not remain idle. Instinctively his footsteps turned toward the strand. If Ellen had arrived during the night, she would probably have sought the harbor at once. Although the New Eagle had sailed, as she would find to her dismay, there were other ships in the harbor and upon one of these she might have taken refuge. Even though it was yet early, there was plenty of stir along the sea wall, and Strathgate mingled with the fishermen, boatmen, sailors and pilots busy about their various tasks. By the judicious expenditure of shillings and sixpences, he opened the most stubborn mouths. But no one had seen the missing pair. After a half hour's investigation, he was about to give it up as a hopeless task and return to the inn, when as a last venture he put his question to a young fisherman, the latest comer to the wharf.

"Yes, yer honor," replied the man, "I think there was a man and a woman, or a young girl among the passengers which my brother, who owns a wherry, put aboard a ship like yon Flying Star, late last night."

The woman happened to be the captain's wife, and the young man was the supercargo of the ship, and the ship happened to be another ship, and not the Flying Star at all; but of that of course neither Strathgate nor his informant had any knowledge. The earl's interest was at once awakened.

"What ship did you say that was?" he asked.

"The Flying Star, I think 'twas called, though I'm no ways certain, yer honor."

"Whose ship was she? Of what nationality, that is?"

"She's an American merchantman, sir," returned the sailor, whose name was Cooper.

"And where does she lie?"

"She doesn't lie nowhere," answered another sailor, surveying the harbor, "leastways her berth was there near est the warships"—he pointed off toward Admiral Kephard's fleet of grim war monsters swinging easily at their anchors in the strong ebb—"but she's gone now."

"She got under way at daybreak this morning," said a bystander; "yonder she is." He pointed down the harbor at a ship under full sail rapidly working toward the channel.

"Who has the fastest boat in the harbor?" cried Strathgate with sudden resolution.

"I have, yer honor," answered Cooper.

And although his claim was vociferously disputed by a dozen men who crowded around Strathgate, who rather liked the appearance of the man, pitched upon him for his purpose.

"A hundred pounds to you," he cried loudly, "if you put me on board the Flying Star before she gets out of the harbor."

"I'd like to see the color of yer money, yer honor, beggin' yer pardon," said Cooper.

Strathgate pulled out a full purse and passed him a ten-pound note.

"This for earnest money," he said. "Now hasten!"

"I'll want a hand to help me with the sails," said Cooper, full of excitement.

"Five pounds to the man that goes, if we win. I'm the earl of Strathgate."

"Yes, your lordship."

"Take me, Cooper!"

"I'll go!" cried one and another.

"Into the boat with you!" cried Strathgate as soon as the matter was settled.

Now that he had made up his mind he was eager to be off. He did not know where Ellen was. He had no assurance that she was on that ship, but at any rate it was a possible clew and anything was better than passing the day in idleness at Portsmouth. Perhaps Ellen had come in in some way during the night. Stop! It suddenly flashed into his mind that she might have come by sea. There would have been plenty of time, if she had gotten a boat, anywhere near the place where the carriage was wrecked. This made him the more impatient and anxious to get away.

Fired by the splendid reward for success, Cooper and his man worked double tides and soon had the sails hoisted and the boat ready for departure.

"Will yer honor come now?"

"Immediately," cried Strathgate.

"We haven't a moment to lose, your lordship," returned Cooper. "Those Yankees are swift footers and it'll be nip and tuck if we overhaul her."

Strathgate sprang into the boat and Cooper shoved off. The boom swung out to leeward and the sail of the cutter filled. She was in the lee of the wharf, however, and was moving very slowly when a horseman came galloping down to the strand at full speed. His sorry steed was completely blown. The rider dropped the reins on the horse's neck, sprang to the ground and ran out on the wharf, attracted thereto by the crowd of people watching the departure of Strathgate. As he ran, he shouted:

"Can any of you tell me anything about the New Eagle?"

"Ay, master," answered one of the boatmen, "she sailed yesterday morning for Philadelphia."

"Yesterday morning?"

"Ay, yer honor."

"What ship is that?" continued Carrington, peering straight down the harbor. "She looks like an American."

He was viewing her with the eye of sailorly experience.

"'Tis an American," answered another, "that be the Yankee clipper, Flying Star."

"When did she sail?"

"This morning at daybreak."

"Where is—"

At that moment Carrington's eye comprehended the little cutter gliding along the wharf. He recognized Strathgate standing up in the stern sheets with his arms akimbo, an insulting smile upon his face. With a muttered oath Carrington in two bounds reached the side of the wharf. The boat was increasing its speed at every moment.

"Strathgate!" thundered Carrington, "where is my—?" He stopped. "Where are the fugitives?"

Strathgate laughed ironically, while Carrington with eager eyes searched the recesses of the little craft, thinking that Ellen and Deborah would be aboard of her. His relief was inexpressible when he found that Strathgate was alone. Yet that did not solve the question that rose in his mind.

"Where is she, I say?" he thundered.

Strathgate's answer was an ironical bow.

"Am I your wife's keeper?" he laughed, waving his hat in disdain.

Art in Spanish Bank Notes.

To baffle the counterfeiters, who are both numerous and cunning in Madrid, the Bank of Spain has pursued the policy of changing its notes with great frequency and retiring each issue as fast as possible.

The bank has now determined on a new plan. It has placed an order for a series of notes with an English concern, and it will rely for safety upon a special color process. In addition the notes are to present pictures of well-known buildings in Spain, executed with a perfection that will defy counterfeiting.

"The pictures are to be so beautiful that amateurs will be tempted to frame them," says one Spanish newspaper. "Hardly," rejoins another, "the cost of the set will be 1,671 pesetas, you see." To the Spanish mind $338.50 is a great deal of money

THE FALL AND WINTER CARE OF THE PULLETS

When the cold nights begin to come it is time to bring the pullets into winter quarters. They should then begin to show signs of approaching maturity. Before bringing them in, clean the house they are to occupy, whitewash it thoroughly and disinfect the perches, nest boxes, etc. Be sure that the disinfectant enters every crack and crevice. Then cover the floor with about four inches of fine gravel or sand. Cover this with six inches of dry, clean, long straw, as the pullets will break it up quickly enough. Where leaves are plentiful they may be used and make very satisfactory litter, although they do not last as long as straw.

When the house is ready remove the pullets to it carefully. Do not carry them by one leg only or otherwise misuse them. Any rough handling at this time will mean a subsequent loss in the eggbasket. Of course a change always produces timidity, but by exercising great care they will soon become accustomed to their new quarters. When about to enter the house a slight noise announcing one's approach before opening the doors will prevent fright and injury from a sudden rush or flight against obstacles in the pen. Chickens soon get to know the call of a low, soft whistle announcing to them the coming of the feed basket. At this stage the reproductive organs are developing rapidly and any abuse or frightening may cause the loss of some of the finest in the flock.

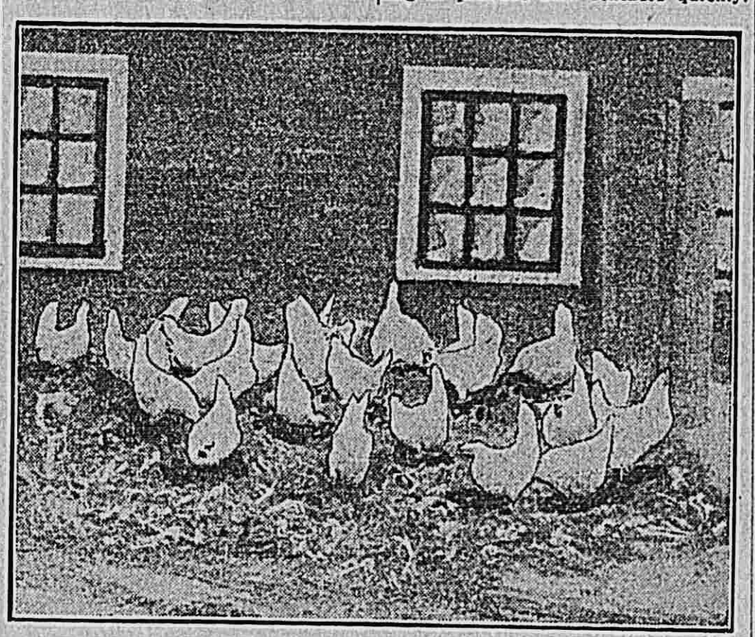

We have entered poultry houses in the winter where the windows have been closed for days at a time. The hens are found standing around with their feathers ruffled and looking as if they were nearly frozen to death. In accustoming pullets to their new quarters, see that they always have plenty of fresh air without a draught. One of the best systems of ventilation is to have a window hinged on one side and cloth on the other so that either one can be swung in at will. Those having sliding windows can arrange to slide one in from either side. Both should usually be left open a little while during the day except in extremely cold weather. Hens enjoy sunshine and fresh air but it should come through the window and not through cracks and crevices. No one should expect hens to lay well in a house that is not constructed with tight walls. The sides of many hen houses are made of unmatched lumber, which has shrunk, leaving cracks through which wind, rain and snow blow, perhaps directly on the fowls. No one should expect hens to do well in such a place. A few dollars spent on building paper and a few feet of battens will work a great change for the better. Simply spread the building paper smoothly over the sides of the house and then place battens on every 18 inches. A good coat of paint will improve the appearance, and make it more lasting.

Next let us consider the feed that the pullets should have when they come in off the range. While on the range they doubtless found an abundance of green food and meat in the form of grass and insects. We must supply these two foods when the pullets are confined to the laying houses. If we can secure skim milk at a reasonable price, or have it on the farm it will be found to be an excellent food. Very often one can buy green bone and scraps or waste meat from the markets at a reasonable price. Any of these may be utilized as well as scraps from the table, as long as they are fresh. No one should be guilty of feeding partially decayed meat in any form. We cannot expect people to pay good proces for eggs if our fowls eat unclean food. In some instances the hens are fed the meat from any animal that dies; this practice should not be allowed. Numerous complaints are made annually because even fresh eggs are off in flavor. When the source of the trouble is traced out we invariably find the hens have been fed unclean food, such as hotel swill, horse meat, or other carrion. If milk or meat scraps cannot be secured locally it is better to buy commercial beef scrap or granulated milk. These will keep indefinitely when properly stored.

The green food may be supplied in the form of cut alfalfa or clover hay. The hens will eat it either dry or steamed. Mangolds or beets and cabbage also make excellent food and should be fed raw. Beets should be sliced lengthwise until the hens learn to eat them, when they may be thrown in whole. The mangel-wurtzel is the best variety for chicken feed. The cabbage should be hung up on a string where the hens can get exercise working at it. Onions, turnips, potatoes and several other vegetables may be fed. These, however, should be cooked until soft and then mixed with about an equal bulk of bran; feed while still quite warm. We prefer to feed such a feed at noon. Be careful not to feed too much, as the hens are very fond of soft, moist mash, and will gorge themselves with it if given a chance. Be sure that each hen can get her share and do not feed more than they will eat up clean in 15 minutes. Also be careful to have the vegetables dry enough so that when the bran is added it will make a crumbly, moist mixture.

Always be careful to feed clean food of all kinds, and shun all bad smelling disinfectants. The egg shell is porous and will, therefore, allow the egg to absorb bad odors. Store the eggs in a clean place and market them at least once a week; by following this method one should soon be able to get a reputation for furnishing eggs that are good and genuinely fresh.

When the pullets are brought in from the range they may not be completely feathered. If not, an occasional feed of sweet corn will be a great treat for them and will help them produce a new coat of feathers. Sunflower seeds contain oil and make an excellent addition to the ration, helping to produce new feathers quickly.

Our illustration represents 25 White Leghorn pullets reared according to methods outlined here. Twelve of these pullets were hatched early in May, 1906, and the remaining 14 during the early part of the following month. On November 30, 1906, the average weight of this pen of pullets was 3½ pounds. The first egg produced by this pen was laid October 23, and during the 30 days of November a total of three hundred and ninety-one eggs were produced by the pen.

Oil meal or oil cake may also be added to the mash feed. We like to use 100 pounds of bran, 75 pounds of middlings, 25 pounds oil meal, 100 pounds corn meal and 100 pounds beef scrap. Canada peas also make an excellent addition to the ration during the moulting period. The fowls soon learn to eat them and they will help keep the birds vigorous during the strain of the moulting period.

There is as much in care and management as in the food. Keep the hens busy all day and then give them enough to fill the crops at night. In this way one can have healthy fowls and avoid many bad habits. If a hopper is used to feed mash, supply a light feed of grain in the litter in the morning; stir it in well so they have to work to find it. At noon open the hopper and let them help themselves until about four o'clock, when it should be closed and the hens fed an abundant feed of grain. If some grain is left in the litter they will search it out the next morning. If moist mash is fed it should be given at noon and then in moderation as the hens are very fond of warm, crumbly mash in cold weather, and may engorge their crops if fed too much. Aim to have a constant supply of fresh water. Do not allow the fowls to get too hungry but endeavor to keep them comfortable, busy and contented. By strict adherence to these rules one should be able to make the strong vigorous pullets lay well all the fall and winter.

Lime in the Poultry House.—A good coat of fresh whitewash is probably worth more to most poultry houses than anything else. The use of fumigation is attended with many uncertainties, as we do not known how much the poisonous fumes affect lice, mites and disease germs. But when these are covered up with a good coat of lime it is doubtful if they are in any condition to do damage.

NEW DISTRICTS AND NEW RAILWAYS

WESTERN CANADA AFFORDS BETTER CONDITIONS THAN EVER FOR SETTLEMENT.

To the Editor — Sir:—Doubtless many of your readers will be pleased to have some word from the grain fields of Western Canada, where such a large number of Americans have made their home during the past few years. It is pleasing to be able to report that generally the wheat yield has been good; it will average about 20 bushels to the acre. There will be many cases where the yield will go 35 bushels to the acre, and others where 50 bushels to the acre has been recorded. The oat and barley crop has been splendid. The prices of all grains will bring to the farmers a magnificent return for their labors. An instance has been brought to my notice of a farmer in the Pincher Creek (Southern Alberta) district—where winter wheat is grown—who made a net profit of $19.55 per acre, or little less than the selling price of his land. 30, 40, and 50 bushel yields are recorded there. The beauty about the lands in Western Canada is that they are so well adapted to grain-raising, while the luxuriant grasses that grow everywhere in abundance make the best possible feed for fattening cattle or for those used for dairying purposes.

The new homestead regulations which went into force September, 1908, attracted thousands of new settlers. It is now possible to secure 160 acres in addition to the 160 acres as a free grant, by paying $3.00 an acre for it. Particulars as to how to do this and as to the railway rates can be secured from the Canadian Government Agents.

"The development throughout Western Canada during the next ten years will probably exceed that of any other country in the world's history," is not the statement of an optimistic Canadian from the banks of the Saskatchewan, but of Mr. Leslie M. Shaw of New York, ex-Secretary of the United States Treasury under the late President McKinley and President Roosevelt, and considered one of the ablest financiers of the United States. "Our railway companies sold a good deal of their land at from three to five dollars an acre, and now the owners are selling the same land at from fifty to seventy-five dollars, and buying more up in Canada at from ten to fifteen."

The editor of the Monticello (Iowa) Express made a trip through Western Canada last August, and was greatly impressed. He says: "One cannot cross Western Canada to the mountains without being impressed with its immensity of territory and its future prospects. Where I expected to find frontier villages there were substantially built cities and towns with every modern convenience." It was formerly supposed that the climate was too severe for it to be thought of as an agricultural country, but its wheat-raising possibilities have been amply tested. We drew from Ontario many of our best farmers and most progressive citizens. Now the Americans are emigrating in greater numbers to Western Canada. Seventy-five per cent. of the settlers in that good country located southeast of Moose Jaw and Regina are Americans. Canada is well pleased with them and is ready to welcome thousands more."

SUPPLEMENT

THE ANTIOCH NEWS

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1908

LEADERS' LAST PLEAS

Taft at Youngstown, O., and Bryan at Lincoln, Close Their Great Talkfest.

BOTH OF THEM BUSY ALL DAY

Republican Leader Goes to Cincinnati from Youngstown.

Democratic Standard Bearer Issues a Statement as His Last Word—Warm Welcome Given to Him at Home.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 3.—The last word of his campaign was spoken by William Howard Taft here, and he at once took train for Cincinnati to cast his vote. "Vote the Republican ticket, and preserve prosperity, protection to American industries, business integrity and the rights of labor." This was the message with which Taft finished his fight. The close of the campaign in this city at night was in magnitude and enthusiasm a fitting climax to all that has gone before. The six and one-half hours Judge Taft spent in Youngstown were crowded with political events, resplendent with the pomp and show of party organizations and a carnival of hilarity, noise and general abandon by the populace to the occasion.

He Makes Three Speeches.

Three speeches were required of the candidate at the Park theater, the Grand Opera House and in the public square. Preceding these, the candidate reviewed a parade which was miles in length, required hours in passing, and was composed of thousands of uniformed marchers. He was then the guest of the prominent Republicans of the city at the Youngstown club for a dinner which was served before the evening speechmaking began.

Cleveland Meeting a Big Affair.

The last day of the campaign for the candidate was remarkable in that there was an increase rather than a diminution of the crowds and enthusiasm wherever he went. Beginning his work at Dunkirk, N. Y., in the morning he addressed big crowds at Westfield, N. Y.; Erie, Pa.; Ashtabula, Garrettsville, Cleveland and Youngstown, O. The Cleveland meeting was a monster affair and was preceded by a parade of many marching clubs which was reviewed by the candidate by passing through the lines in an automobile with Mrs. Taft, who joined him at Buffalo, by his side. His speeches throughout the day were largely devoted to the labor issue.

BRYAN'S FINAL STATEMENT

Declares the Fight Won—Great Home-Coming Demonstration.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—William Jennings Bryan, after closing his campaign in a whirl of local enthusiasm at this city, issued a statement which begins—"Our fight is won and we await the verdict with confidence. The people will not be deceived by the padded straw votes published by the partisan newspapers, by the sham bets of Wall street gamblers, or the boastings of the panic-stricken Republican leaders." It closes—"Surely the hour has come for a return of the government to the hands of the people. Let the people rule."

In his last speech of the campaign, made to his neighbors at Lincoln he closed: "And, my friends, I simply want to say this: If you, among whom I have lived; if you, who have known my every word and thought and act; if you believe me worthy of that high office [cries of "We do"], I will swear in your presence that no one who votes for me will ever have occasion to be ashamed of the vote he casts."

After speaking at Kansas City, Kan.; Kansas City, Mo.; Leavenworth, Atchison, Everest, Hiawatha, Sabetha, Seneca, Axtell and Marysville, Kan., to gatherings said to be the largest ever assembled in those cities, Bryan came here to take part in the greatest demonstration in the history of Lincoln. It was non-partisan in character and participated in by both Republicans and Democrats, and the crowd was tremendous. There was a great parade and the town was aglow with red fire. Bryan's speech was not partisan, and was cheered continually. The speech though not partisan, was political, and was a review of his three campaigns for president and it is needless to say was eloquent.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The leaders of the two great parties other than Taft and Bryan who were busy up to the end of the ante-election day period, were Governor Hughes, who spent yesterday in the automobile whirl at New York speaking at seven place in Manhattan island and making his final plea at night; James S. Sherman, who closed at Kingston, N. Y.; John W. Kern, who was on a hike through northern Ohio until he closed at Toledo at night, and Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, who ran his campaign into the last night before the election.

Clean Food.

It is a good deal more important that food shall not carry the germs of disease than that it shall be chemically pure. Table salt, for example, may contain some soda salts other than the chloride and still be perfectly healthful. Corn bread is less healthful when made from pure cornmeal than when it has some admixture of wheat flour. But food that is not clean may be more dangerous than any adulterated food product sold today, provided the adulterated article carries no disease germs.—Boston Advertiser.

Sympathy.

A kind hearted little slum girl on a visit to the country saw one evening a mother hen about to gather her brood of chicks under her wings. The little girl rushed up to the hen and shouted:

"Shoo, you ugly thing! How dare you sit down on these beautiful little birds?"

Vicarious Osculation.

"I'll—I'll kiss her right under your nose!" he said defiantly.

"Oh, well," said that lady, "vicarious kissing like that I can see no objection to."—Boston Transcript.

The Widower.

A widower is like a baby. The first six months he cries a lot, the second six months he begins to sit up and take notice, and he experiences great difficulty in getting through his second year alone.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Willing to Tell.

"One-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives," declared a notorious lady gossip.

"That isn't your fault," quietly observed one of her auditors.

HER SONGS WELL KNOWN

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 3.—Childhood memories will be brought back to thousands by the death here of the author of "Little Drops of Water" and "Think Gently of the Erring." Mrs. Julia A. Carney, whose poems are in many church hymnals and have been translated into many languages, breathed her last at noon after an illness that kept her in bed for three months. Besides being sung, some of her poems have been used as recitations for children.

She was born in Lancaster, Mass., April 6, 1823, and spent her girlhood there. She taught school in Boston and Philadelphia. As a child she wrote poetry, and her first poems were published when she was fourteen. "Little Drops of Water" was written in 1845 for a Sunday school exercise and was published first in leaflet form.

WHO'LL BE HER HOST?

Question Chicago's 400 Is Asking Itself Relative to a Duchess' Visit.

SHE OF WARWICK IS EXPECTED

Bids for the New City Hall Opened—"Gospel Clean-Up" by Billy Sunday—Items.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Word has been received from New York that the Countess of Warwick, who, with her husband, the Earl of Warwick, is a close friend of King Edward, is coming to Chicago next month. The identity of her hostess has not yet been revealed. The countess is coming to Chicago mainly to study conditions in the industrial center of the west with a view to aiding labor. She is prominently identified with the woman suffrage movement in Europe and will interest herself in this subject locally on her arrival here.

Found Shot to Death.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Barbara Yonaship, thirty-two years old, 51 West Fifteenth place, was found shot to death in her home. The Maxwell street police believe she was murdered. No revolver was found about the place. Detectives are searching for Dominick Yahus, twenty-seven years old, a former boarder at the woman's house, who is suspected of the killing. His brother, Frank Yahus, and Mrs. Frank Yonaship, sister-in-law of the dead woman, have been arrested. The woman was unmarried and is said to have been shot while she lay asleep.

Broker Commits Suicide.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—G. O. Mathews, forty years old, a commission broker with offices at 201 LaSalle street, committed suicide by inhaling gas in his room at the home of Dr. Leonard O. Lundgren, 421 Erie street. He left a note to his cousin, Abraham Burrows, 5 Milwaukee avenue, in which he said he was tired of life. Mathews had a wife living in Boston, and he is reputed to have been well-to-do.

Chicago's New City Hall.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Bids for Chicago's new city hall have been opened. On the face of the bids estimates by Commissioner of Public Works John J. Hanberg and Alderman Francis W. Taylor place the cost of the new city hall at about $4,000,000. Both men expressed satisfaction with the bids, which they declare compare favorably with the cost of the new county building in view of the large amount of additional work necessary in the city building.

Arrest of a Postmaster.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Thomas L. Levis, postmaster in charge of the postoffice at Grant Works, Ill., was arrested by Deputy Marshal W. E. Cass on charges of embezzling postal funds and making false reports to the postmaster general.

"GREAT GOSPEL CLEAN-UP"

Result of a Five Weeks' Campaign of the Baseball Evangelist, Billy Sunday.

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 3.—"Billy" Sunday, the baseball evangelist, has closed a five weeks' meeting here. In two free will offerings he received $7,279. The people started to take the third offering when the evangelist entered the tabernacle and stopped the tellers. Finally the evening offering, at the suggestion of the evangelist, was given to a hospital.

Sunday has caused 2,542 professions of conversation, and 20,000 people heard him Sunday. Every saloon in Jacksonville has closed its doors, and fifteen saloon proprietors are enjoying liberty through the sufferance of the judge of the circuit court. It has been the greatest gospel clean-up Jacksonville has ever seen.

Looks Like a Good Defense.

Paris, Ill., Nov. 3.—L. R. James, who recently moved to this city from Terre Haute, has been arrested on a bench warrant from Coles county, charging him with arson. James, who is a contracting carpenter, constructed at Hardin, in Coles county, a business block, upon which he placed insurance to the amount of $4,000. The building afterwards burned, and it is charged that he set fire to it in order to get the insurance. James says the charge is preposterous, as he could have sold the property for more than the amount of the policy.

Scientific.

Briggs—Is there such a thing as a scientific kiss? Griggs—Surely; one in which you succeed in breaking away from the girl without becoming engaged to her.—Kansas City Independent.

The Wearing of a Watch.

At a meeting of the British Watch and Clock Makers' guild "Which is the better way to keep a watch at night—lying flat or hanging up?" was debated. The general opinion was that it was better to let it lie flat. The vice president of the guild said it depended upon the kind of watch. If it were one such as Captain Cuttle wore or anything incapable of giving some sort of timekeeping, the wearer should be advised to keep it always in one position. It will wear out sooner, but that does not much matter. A good watch should lie flat at night. The variation of rate between hanging and lying is very small, and the difference is practically constant, so that the mean rate is constant. In the hanging position all the parts are running on the side bearings, where there is the greatest friction and wear. By letting the watch lie flat at night and run on the end bearings, where there is less friction, the wear is distributed and the watch made more durable.

Joys of Being Fat.

According to a writer, in an English magazine, it is the fat men that get all the good things in life. They are conducted to the best tables at restaurants, they get the corner seats in the theater and always seem to have enough money to get along without worrying. When a fat man enters a drawing room, doesn't he always get the most comfortable chair? asks the writer. When his hat blows off on a windy day, doesn't some one always run after it for him? No one expects him to get up in a bus or a train to give his seat to a lady. He would block the gangway if he did. Even his wife doesn't expect him to stoop to pick up things when she drops them. Everybody tells him the best stories, because everybody likes to hear him laugh.

Didn't Lose Any Sleep.

Jenner, the famous English physician, was essentially a strong and self reliant man. He attended the prince consort through his fatal illness, he was the Prince of Wales' doctor when the heir to the British throne had so narrow an escape in 1872, and he also went to Darmstadt and remained in attendance upon the Princess Alice till she died. To practice medicine in "the fierce light that beats upon a throne" is not calculated to lessen the physician's anxieties, and one who knew Jenner well once questioned him on this point and hinted that his responsibilities must sometimes be sufficient to render sleep or rest impossible.

"Sleep," replied Jenner in his characteristic way. "I don't think that anxiety about a patient ever kept me awake five minutes in my life. I go to a bedside. I do my best. What more can I do? Why should I not sleep?"

Hamlet's Bowl of Gruel.

George Melville, an old English actor, was fond of telling a funny story at his own expense. He was acting Hamlet in Bristol. It was the actor's rule to take a bowl of gruel in the course of the evening, and his landlady sent over the usual refreshment from the lodgings in Queen square. She happened to have a "new" servant girl, who was explicitly directed to get to the stage door by the entrance from Bank street and then carry the gruel into the greenroom. She arrived at a moment when Mr. Melville was "on." Being unused to the ways of the theater, she asked a man at the wings where Mr. Melville was.

"There," said the super, pointing to the stage.

The actor was in the middle of the soliloquy "To be or not to be" when the girl advanced toward him, bearing the bowl, and said, "If you please, Mr. Melville, sir, here is your gruel."

Just as Good.

"We are trying to educate our readers to recognize the evils of substitution," said the business manager of one of the popular magazines. "Through our advertising pages we are trying to get them up to the point where they will insist upon getting what they ask for and will take nothing else. The merchant who has 'something just as good' is no more to be depended upon than a clerk in a certain country store which a friend visited to buy something.

"My friend had been invited unexpectedly to make an automobile trip and was not fully prepared for it. The roads were very dusty, and after traveling several miles the party came to a little country village, where my friend thought he might be able to purchase something to protect his clothing. The automobile halted before the general store of the village. My friend alighted and accosted a drowsy clerk. "I want to get a linen duster,' he said.

"'I am very sorry,' said the clerk, 'but we are just out of linen dusters. I can let you have a nice feather duster!'"

Burned to Death in His Home.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 3.—The farm home of Charles Bilbach, near Flanigan, was destroyed by fire. All of the inmates escaped except Bilbach, who was burned to death.

HOW TEAMS SIZE UP

QUARTER, YALE'S PROBLEM.

Princeton Has Good Nucleus—Optimism at Harvard—Chicago Strong. Outlook Dubious at Pennsylvania, Cornell, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The football season of 1908 for the big colleges of the east and west has now begun, and from now on until the snow flies, or later perhaps, the pigskin chasers will be in the limelight.

This season was ushered in with conditions less chaotic than have prevailed at any time since the adoption of the new rules, and the coaches of the big elevens have something more definite to work on. The possibilities of the new game are thoroughly appreciated, and definite campaigns can be mapped out at the start of the season.

As was to be expected, the Carlisle Indians opened the season for the big teams. These players are the chief advertising medium of the government school at Carlisle, Pa., and as they have little else to do besides play football they are always in good form weeks before any other prominent eleven.

While it is difficult to predict the strength of football at this early stage of the year, the reports of conditions at the various big universities should prove of considerable help.

At Yale the main problem is in developing a quarter to fill the place of Tad Jones. The ends will be weak, but the main work will be picking a quarter. Hopkins of the freshmen team, Bingham, second substitute on the varsity, and Kilpatrick, former Andover halfback, seem to be the strongest men at present. Captain Burch will play right end. Haines, star end and drop kicker of the freshmen; Mersereau, tackle on the same, and Logan, a "sub" on the varsity, are the most valuable candidates for left end.

For tackles Andrus and Hobbs are the best material. Both of these men played on the second team all season last year.

For guards Greenough of the freshmen and Cooney and Goebel, last year's varsity regulars, will fight it out for the two positions. It is not unlikely that Cooney will be shifted to center. If he is not, Hyde of the 1911 team is the strongest man out for the position.

Harvard followers are jubilant over the large number of men they have from whom to pick their team members. There are fewer candidates for the line than any other department. The choice of a first team should not be very difficult so far as the line is concerned. There is Nourse for center, Burr for one guard and McKay for the other. The return of Fish, tackle on last year's team, will provide for the other side of the line. Crowley and Corbett, last year's freshmen ends, with Houston, a substitute in 1907, are the likeliest looking ends. Brown and Cutler and Sprague stand as the most promising material for quarterback.

At Princeton they are more confident now than at this early period for several seasons back. Enough veterans have returned to form a strong nucleus. The Tigers are better fixed as regards quarterback than any other team. Captain Dillon is a field general par excellence, and his experience will prove of decided benefit to the team. Princeton will have a hard time finding a man who can make a drop kick as well as Harlan did.

Penn's football prospects received a sad blow recently when Coach Sol Metzgar announced that Dexter Draper would not play football this fall. The loss of this All American tackle leaves an already weakened line in a rather bad shape.

The coaches are doing their best to develop a strong line, and every man who has any size, regardless of experience, has been given a careful tryout, but the prospects are rather dubious.

The outlook at Cornell is somewhat discouraging. Of last year's team only four men have reported—Gardner and Caldwell, both candidates for quarterback; Harris, candidate for left end, and Tydeman, right half.

The Chicago eleven is just now the most feared aggregation in the middle west. The early signs are that Chicago will round into championship form sooner than any of her rivals, eight members of last year's team having returned. The eight veterans are Captain Steffen, Page, Iddings, Falk, Kelly, Worthwine, Schommer and Hofman.

Minnesota, according to present prospects, will have a hard task getting ready a football team up to the standard of past seasons. Only four of last year's regulars are left, the rest having been graduated in June, among them being Captain Shuknecht. The four old timers who remain are Radenmacher, an end; Young, a tackle; Mohlstadt, a guard, and Coughlin, who has played at quarter. Coughlin probably will be shifted to the back field this season.

Illinois, with nine veterans on hand, looks good for a football revival, and the orange and blue students are pulling hard for a clear string of victories, with a win over Chicago as a reminder of changed conditions to Coach Stagg.

Wisconsin is regarded as a "dark horse," but it is said that the Badgers will come up strong with the best team in years. For this reason the Chicago-Wisconsin game, which closes the western season, is regarded as one of the big contests.

The Leopard and the Pan.

One day a worthy Kulu housewife came out from her cooking and, standing on the ledge of rock at her door, emptied a pan of boiling water into the rank herbage growing below. It fell, splash, on the back of a sleeping leopard, who jumped perpendicularly into the air as high as the roof of the hut. What might have happened next? Who can say? But the astonished woman dropped the pan with a clang upon the rock, and the leopard took one leap downhill. The pan followed, and the leopard's downward leaps became longer and swifter as the pan bounded after it from rock to rock.

When last seen the leopard had just achieved a leap of about 350 feet to the very bottom of the ravine, thousands of feet below, and the pan had whirled about 500 feet over it on the opposite side. The leopard would have eaten the old woman with pleasure, but a pan which first scalded half the hide off him and then bounded clanging in his wake from the top of the Himalayas to the plains below was something which he could not face.—London Chronicle.

A Mexican Tradition.

"Boys, what's the matter? Fever? Die, then; die, then." That's the song the doves sing down in old Mexico when a native has penumonia, and almost invariably he lies down, refuses to swallow the medicine prescribed by the physician, resigns himself to his fate and in a few weeks he dies. The dove, however, sings the song in Spanish. It is a tradition among the Mexicans that once the fever accompanying an attack of pneumonia seizes them it is necessarily fatal, and because of this all medicine and all physicians are refused and the Mexican usually dies. The dove brings the story of death in its weird cooing, according to the belief of the natives, and many who have been seized with the fever who otherwise might have recovered have succumbed owing to their belief in the tradition. That is the reason, it is said, why penumonia is fatal to so many Mexicans.—New York Herald.

A Natural Inference.

"Pa," said Johnnie Dumbley, "what's an applelogue?"

"Why, it's a—er—a fable, my son," said Mr. Dumbley. "Usually designed to convey a moral lesson. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothin'," said Johnnie, "only I've lost a dime on it. Me and Bill Watkins had a bet, and I said it was the original commandment in the garden of Eden. If the Decalogue is the Ten Commandments I don't see that first one ain't an applelogue."—Harper's Weekly.

Professional Pessimism.

The actors who solemnly advise young men and women to keep off the stage, the lawyers who speak disparagingly of the law's delays, the writers who decry their own profession, all are wasting their time and adding nothing to their own reputations. The general croaker is a pessimist and therefore a nuisance.—Chicago Tribune.

But Not Literally.

It is related of a preacher in a small town who was to be absent from his pulpit a fortnight that he recently announced after the sermon:

"The preacher for next Sunday will be Mr. Plank, and the one for the Sunday after you'll find hanging up behind the door on the other side of the vestry."

Maria—Oh, don't buy it. Only eighty-nine years! Fancy [illegible] being turned out of his house at ninety-one and possibly into the street! What a bargain!—London Fun.

Plums and Grafting.

"If you want plenty of plums," remarked the practical politician, "you have to graft."

"Exactly," agreed the theoretical politician; "so you do."—Boston Transcript.

65 years in business with as many thousand friends

When I. R. Lyon, on November 25th 1843, opened up his little store to the public of Little Fort, now Waukegan, little did he dream that the child of his conception would grow to serve a population of thousands. The same spirit of truth, honesty and square dealing which gained for him the friendship and patronage of the Indian, trapper and early pioneer, has been the keynote to the success of the present generation of owners, G. R. Lyon & Sons, who have carried his beginning forward until today it occupies a position in the world of business that is second to none in northern Illinois.

Sale of Underwear when You Need it Most

SAVE THE PIGS TO BUY WIVES.

One Reason Why Cannibalism Flourishes in the New Hebrides.

The New Hebrides are still populated by hordes of man-killing and man-eating savages, precisely as they were in the days of Cook.

Owing to international jealousy, missionary enterprise has been able to accomplish little or nothing on the majority of the islands. Indeed, the interiors of most of them remain to this day unexplored and the tribesmen there have never seen a white face.

Nevertheless they all own firearms, which they have obtained from the coast dwellers, and labor-recruiting vessels. With these they go gunning for one another in order to replenish their larders, for they are cannibals to a man.

Not cannibals occasionally, and through stress of circumstance, as are some of the Central African negroes. The New Hebridean native eats human flesh habitually because he likes it, and because it costs nothing and is easily procurable.

This is shown by the fact that although pigs abound on most of the islands, they are rarely killed for food. Such a proceeding would be regarded as sinful extravagance. For pigs constitute the currency of the country, and can be exchanged for tobacco and beads; or for wives, the greatest of all luxuries.

For 20 pigs one can buy a really good-looking girl-wife, who will delight her lord and master in her youth, and slave for him from daylight to dark in the yam plantations when she gets past her prime.

An Expert Opinion.

"De Georgy mule," said Brother Dickey, "is de one creetur' in a thousand what don't enjoy de summer season. De furrer look ez long ter him ez de time betwixt meals, an' de high price er cotton gives him dat tired feelin' kaze he well know he got des dat much mo' ter plaw."—Atlanta Constitution.

Bad Temper, Vulgar.

It's bad for the spoiled favorite of society if she forgets to wear her armor. One must never lose one's temper. "When a woman of much wealth determines to be a leader in the social whirl, she must be sure of her equipoise," says an authority. "Achievement of social success is guaranteed only by perfect self-control."

Musical Telegraph Wires.

Telegraph wires may be defended from the musical standpoint. The sound they make is often curious and beautiful, as everybody knows who has put an ear to one of the great posts by the highway when the wind is twanging through half a hundred wires overhead.—Saturday Review.

HE GOT BACK.

Scotland Yard Detective Is Buncoed, and That Leads to a Story.

Cecil Page, a Scotland Yard detective, was buncoed in New York out of a large sum of money. Discussing the trick that had been played on him, Mr. Pape said the other day:

"I'd get back at those chaps if I had the time. A Scotland Yard detective is a dangerous individual to bunco. If my engagements at home were not pressing, I would stay here till I landed those audacious rascals in prison.

"You mustn't play tricks on Scotland Yard, you know," said Mr. Page, more complacently. "Scotland Yard, if you try it, gets back at you every time. It is like the story of the watch.

"There was a London music hall manager, Shoesmith by name, who was very fond of his joke, especially after dinner, when he had a bottle of champagne inside him.

"Well, one night after dinner Shoesmith entered an Oxford street jeweler's and said to the clerk:

"'My man, what are those things there—those round, flat things, white on the one side and yellow on the other?'

"'Why, sir, they are watches; hunting case watches, sir,' the clerk answered.

"'And what are they for?' says Shoesmith.

"'To indicate the time,' says the clerk.

"'Fancy!' says Shoesmith. 'Do you know, I've heard of them. And how much do they cost?'

"'From five to fifty pounds, sir.'

"'Are there printed directions for making them go?'

"'Oh, no,' said the clerk. 'To make them go is very simple. You merely wind them once a day with a key.'

"'And when do you wind them—in the evening or in the morning?'

"'You must wind yours, sir, in the morning,' the clerk answered, gently and patiently.

"'Why in the morning?'

"'Because in the evening you are drunk, Mr. Shoesmith, and would break it.'"

The Voyage of the Beagle.

Darwin was a member of the expedition undertaken for the scientific survey of the South American waters on the ship Beagle. The voyage was begun in 1831 and lasted almost five years. Much of Darwin's data for his works were gathered on this trip.

Definition.

As nearly as can be differentiated, a job is where a man does most of the work and somebody else gets most of the pay, and a position is where a man gets most of the pay and somebody else does most of the work.—Puck.

THERE WAS A GREAT SURPRISE.

What Caused a Queer Transformation in an English Coach.

A lady and a gentleman were traveling together on an English railway. They were perfect strangers to each other, according to Sphere.

"Madam, I will trouble you to look out of the window for a few minutes; I am going to make some changes in my wearing apparel."

"Certainly, 'sir," she replied, with politeness, rising and turning her back.

In a short time he said: "Now, madam, my change is completed and you may resume your seat."

When the lady turned she beheld her male companion transformed into a dashing lady, with a heavy veil over her face.

"Now, sir, or madam, whichever you like," said the lady, "I must trouble you to look out of the window, for I also have some changes to make in my apparel."

"Certainly, madam," said the gentleman in lady's attire and immediately complied.

"Now, sir, you may resume your seat," said the lady.

To his great surprise, on resuming his seat, the gentleman in female attire found his lady companion transformed into a man. He then laughed and said:

"It appears that we are both anxious to avoid recognition. I have robbed a bank. What have you done?"

"I," said the whilom lady, as he dexterously fettered his companion's wrists, "I am Detective J—— of Scotland Yard and in female apparel have shadowed you. Now,"—drawing a revolver—"keep still."

A Chance to Buy a Pagoda.

In the year 770 A. D. the Emperor Koken caused a million pagodas to be made. They were little objects of wood, only four and a half inches high. Into each was inserted a tiny scroll with a verse of the Sutras inscribed thereon, and the whole number were then handed over to the temple Horyuji at Nara. In the course of centuries these relics gradually became dispersed or were destroyed by fire, until only 3,000 remained, and the ancient temple, being now in financial straits, offers one of these pagodas with its inclosure to any person sufficiently charitable to subscribe 35 yen.—Japan Weekly Mail.

The French Point of Beauty.

A point of beauty always sought by the French in the arrangement of the hair is to present a joli nuque, that is, a pretty nape of the neck. Effects they produce in this respect are wonderful, and are chiefly attained by care in securing a graceful line marked by the hair from ear to ear, and a charming contour which clever waving of the hair produces.

Tickling, tight Coughs, can be surely and quickly loosend with a precription Druggists are dispensiing everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Caugh Remedy. And it is so very, very different than common cough medicines. No Opium, no Chlooroform, absolutely nothing harsh or unsafe. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung healing mountainous shrub, gives the curative properties to Dr. Shoops Cough Remedy. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distresring Couph and to soothe and heal the most senstive bronchial membrance. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the poungest babes. Test it youself! and see. Sold by. J. H. Swan.

Olive Oil Culture.

Owing to the strict government inspection, practically all Italian export olive oil is pure on leaving Italy. For home consumption there is hardly a sufficiency, from year to year, necessitating large imports of cotton-seed oil from America; and this has induced the government to take special action toward the improvement of olive culture.

Chief Cause for Thankfulness.

There was a good deal of sound human nature in the unexpected reply of the dying old woman to her minister's leading question: "Here at the end of a long life, which of the Lord's mercies are you most thankful for?" Her eyes brightened as she answered: "My victuals."

How is your Digestion.

Mrs. Mary Dowing of No. 229 8th Ave., San Francisco, recommends a remedy for stomch trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver trouble Electric Bitiers is the best remedy on the market to-day." This great tonic and atlerative medicine invigoraters the sytem, purifies the blood and is especially heldful in all forms of female Weakness. 50c. at J. H. Swan's drug store.

Fine English Church Bells.

In England for ages past church bells have been connected with everything sacred in life. Here the bells are loved for their old associations. Who has not heard of the famous "Bow church chimes" of Cheapside, London? They date from 1761 and are a fine peal of 12 bells in C, their total weight being nearly eleven tons. The whole bell tower is swayed by their ringing, and their rich tones vibrate throughout the entire city, as it is said those in the lofty bell tower of St. Ivan's do in Moscow.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak Stomach if one goes at it correctly. And this is true of the Heat and Kidneys. The old fashioned pay of dosing the Stomach or stimulating the Heat or Kidneys is surly wrong! Dr. Shoop's first pointed our this error. "Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs", said he. Each inside organ has its controlling or "inside nerves" When these nerves fail those organs must surely falter. The vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommed Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by J. H. Swan.

Use of Howitzers.

Howitzers are used especially to set fire to buildings, to reach an enemy that is behind parapets or hills, to make breaches in mud walls by exploding shells in them and against cavalry. They project common shells, common and spherical case-shot and sometimes round shot. In howitzers the trunions are in the middle.

Mind Your Business!

If you don't nobody will. It is your business to keep out of all the trouble you can and you can and will keep out of liver and bowel trouble if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They keep biliousness, malaria and jaundice out of your system 25c. at J. H. Swan's drug store.

A Carlyle Wedding.

Craigenputtock, where Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" was written, has just been the scene of a notable wedding. The bride was Mary Carlyle of Craigenputtock, a grandniece of Thomas Carlyle, a farmer, of Pingle, Dumfriesshire, a son of Thomas Carlyle's favorite nephew. Pingle is about four miles from Ecclefechan, Carlyle's birthplace, and this village is the original of the Entuphl of "Sartor Resartus."—London Standard.

Too Much Success.

Too much success is that which is gained by the sacrifice of something worth more than itself. The great objection to it, outside of its own undesirableness, is that it disturbs the balance of things. It is unstable, impertinent, the exploit of imperfectly civilized people, carrying in itself the seeds of its own dissolution.—North American Review.

Righteous Resentment.

PLEASANT BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

On Tuesday Mrs. F. M. Simmons was given a very pleasant surprise in the way of a dinner party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Smart, just west of town, the occasion being the sixty-seventh anniversary of her birth.

The surprise was complete in every way for Mrs. Simmons had no inkling of the affair until the guests arrived all at once and found her quietly sewing at the home of her daughter where she had been invited to spend the day.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served and to add to the merriment each guest found herself the proud posessor of a dude, a happy Hooligan, etc., which had been provided as souvenirs for the occasion. After dinner all were requested to step outside where each in turn was weighed, the heaviest Mrs. Grimm receiving a prize as did also the lightest which proved to be Mrs. Overton. Later all indulged in a throwing contest and Mrs. R. D. Emmons coming off victorious was awarded the first prize and the consolation prize was won by Mrs. Overton.

About 3:30 o'clock all departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Simmons many happy returns of the day and leaving behind many little tokens of remembrance.

But another surprise was yet in store for her, for upon her return home in the evening she found that during her absence her house had been wired for electric lights and a fine new Youngston lamp was burning in her sitting room.

Those who participated in the day's pleasure were; Mesdames John Grimm, E. H. Ames, E. Boylan, R. Stevens, R. D. Emmons, P. Overton, L. M. Cribb, C. Tiffany, E. L. Simons, Wm. Smart and F. M. Simmons.

MILLIONS OF TELEGRAMS A YEAR

England Sends Almost 94,000,000 In Twelvemonth.

According to the figures published by the German Imperial post office, the record of sending the most telegrams in a year belongs to the people of England, who dispatched almost 94,000,000 during the year 1906. The United States came next, with 65,500,000, and then France with 58,000,000. Germany occupied fourth place, with 52,500,000 telegrams. The Japanese figures are 24,500,000, and those for Russia only 28,000,000, including all the country's Asiatic possessions. But Russia paid for them the large sum of $20,675,000, while Germany's outlay was only $8,750,000. During the same period the American companies took in roughly $29,000,000. Of the European countries Spain, for its size, has the smallest telegraphic traffic, the smallest number of miles of wire and the smallest income proportionately to her population. So far as mileage is concerned, the United States leads all the other nations, but no one who has resided abroad ever fails to note how much more frequently English and Germans use the telegraph for short distance communications than is the case here, says the New York Post. Of course, the development of the telephone in this country, also far ahead of anything similar in Europe, accounts in large measure for this state of affairs.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics.

Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 10 boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 45 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

MRS. ASTOR IS DEAD

AMERICAN SOCIETY LEADER PASSES AWAY.

LONG A SOCIAL LIGHT

New York Woman Who Was Known as First Among Country's Aristocrats Taken by Death—Heart Trouble Cause.

New York.—Mrs. William Astor, who for 30 years had been regarded as the social leader of New York, died Friday night of heart disease at her home on Fifth avenue.

For nearly four weeks Mrs. Astor, who was 82 years old, had been in a critical condition owing to the return of a heart affection that had given her trouble for years.

There is not a name in the social register that is so well known from one end of the land to the other as that of Mrs. Astor. Despite her advancing years, Mrs. Astor continued to hold her social domination up to a year ago, when failing health compelled her to retire into comparative seclusion.

In Ill Health a Year.

It was in the summer of 1907 that Mrs. Astor's friends learned of her ill health. While she was abroad last year, her son, Col. John Jacob Astor, made the announcement that Beechwood, the summer home of Mrs. Astor at Newport, would not be opened and this led to the discovery that Mrs. Astor was in poor health. Word came later from Mrs. Astor, while she was in Paris, saying that she would open her Newport villa and that she would make the season there one of the gayest in years.

This promise was not fulfilled, however, for when Mrs. Astor returned from abroad she broke down in Boston and had to return to New York. She had remained at her home ever since.

Society Functions in History.

The society functions given and presided over by Mrs. Astor have gone down into history as the most brilliant on record. It is said that the ballroom in the mansion on Fifth avenue would accommodate 1,000 people. It was Mrs. Astor who established the famous "400," her visiting list being confined to that number of names. In 1905, however, Mrs. Astor was said to have "let down the bars," when she invited 1,200 persons to one of the most memorable social events ever given in New York. Mrs. Astor received her guests at these gatherings seated in a high-backed chair beneath a portrait of herself, painted by Carolus Duran.

Spouse Not Tall Socially.

The Astor jewels were worn by Mrs. Astor on these occasions. It is said the Astor emeralds are the finest in the world.

William Astor, who died in Paris in 1892, took little part in the social activities his wife enjoyed. Mrs. Astor, before marriage, was Miss Caroline Schermerhorn, a daughter of Abraham Schermerhorn, a well-to-do merchant. She was married to William Astor on September 23, 1853. John Jacob Astor was their only son. There were four daughters, two of them, Mrs. Ogilvie Haig and Mrs. Orme Wilson, are now living. The eldest daughter, Miss Emily Astor, who married J. J. Van Alen, died some years ago.

Pioneer Lumber Merchant Dead.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Delos A. Blodgett, for 60 years closely identified with the lumber industry of the country, died at his home here, in his eighty-fourth year.

He was born in Otsego county, New York, in 1825. In 1847 he began work in an Upper Michigan sawmill, finally becoming one of the heaviest timber operators of the state. In 1885 he began buying southern timber land and was one of the first northern men to make such investments. He and his associates are among the largest holders of southern pine to-day.

Montgomery Again Convicted.

Pittsburg, Pa. — William Montgomery, cashier of the Allegheny National bank until the discovery of a shortage in its funds of over $1,250,000 early last summer necessitated closing the institution, was for the second time this week found guilty Wednesday of embezzlement and abstraction of funds, his peculations in the two cases amounting to $613,000.

Costly Hallowe'en Prank.

Belton, Tex.—Fire started by Hallowe'en roysterers late Saturday night totally destroyed the Belton compress and 10,000 bales of cotton. The loss will exceed $250,000, which is covered by insurance. Twenty residences were damaged by the fire and water and 17 loaded freight cars burned, which will increase the total loss by $10,000.

Political Murder in Oklahoma.

Foraker, Okla. — In a political quarrel here Sunday Frank S. Seward, a prominent merchant and local Democratic committeeman, shot and killed John H. Milam, a well-known farmer of Pawhuska, Okla. The shooting occurred in Seward's store. Milam was a Republican.

Defects in New Battleships.

Washington.—In view of the order of the secretary of the navy revoking the prohibition he recently placed against officers who attended the Newport conference from discussing its action, an officer who was prominently identified with the entire proceedings of the conference stated Sunday that it had substantiated the charges of defects pointed out in Commander Keyes' letter on that subject, with a few minor exceptions. This officer has been foremost in his denunciation of naval defects.

DUTCH MAY MOVE ON CASTRO

TIME SET BY THE ULTIMATUM ALREADY HAS EXPIRED.

Venezuela Doesn't Yield—Blockade of Its Ports by Warships of The Netherlands Is Expected.

Willemstad. — The Netherlands government fixed November 1 as the limit of time for Venezuela to revoke the decree of President Castro, issued on May 14, prohibiting the trans-shipment of goods for Venezuelan ports at Curacao. President Castro has refused to revoke this decree, but as yet, so far as is known here the Netherlands government has not decided upon definite action.

There has been much activity here, but in an interview Sunday the governor of Curacao said that Holland ought to have assurances that Venezuela had not revoked the decree at the last hour of the day fixed according to the ultimatum before taking any active measures. He believed that his government had made ample preparations for any eventuality. The opinion is held among naval officers here that no direct steps will be taken within a week.

There is no question that Venezuelans believe the Netherlands government is preparing to blockade their ports. Advices received by the steamer Zulia from Maracaibo state that it was reported on October 24 that President Castro had ordered the mobilization of 50,000 troops to be ready November 2. Two days later there were rumors in Maracaibo that Gen. Nicholas Rolando, who previously had been charged with leading a revolutionary movement in Venezuela, was crossing the frontier with 20,000 men from Cucuta, Colombia. No further account of this movement could be learned because mail and telegraphic communications with Cucuta were suspended the following day. Large shipments of powder and shells have been received at Fort San Carlos on Maracaibo lake, and there is much activity around the frontier.

At Willemstad a wireless system has been established so that uninterrupted service can now be secured. The last target practice of the Dutch warships showed 75 per cent. of hits, while the vessels were making a speed of 12 knots.

CHAIN THEMSELVES TO GRILLE.

Suffragettes Create Remarkable Scene in House of Commons.

London.—Suffragette disturbances have driven the government to the unusual course of temporarily closing the strangers' and ladies' galleries in the house of commons. Wednesday evening a sensation was caused by the display of a placard and sudden shrill cries from the ladies' gallery, demanding votes for women, while simultaneously a bundle of handbills fluttered down from the strangers' gallery at the opposite end of the chamber, and a man shouted protests against "injustice to women."

Attendants hurried to the galleries and the male offender was unceremoniously ejected, but from the ladies' gallery sounds were heard of a desperate struggle. Two suffragettes had firmly chained themselves to the grille and resisted for a time all efforts at removal, crying continuously in shrill tones their demands for votes.

The scene was watched with amazement from the floor of the house, but finally the suffragettes were dragged from their posts and removed, but only after portions of the grille were removed with them.

NEW FARMERS' ORGANIZATION.

Society of Equity Is Formed at Indianapolis Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Farmers' Society of Equity was organized here Thursday afternoon at a convention of representatives from a number of states. The constitution of the society embodies practically all of the basic principles of the American Society of Equity, the principal change being that all delegates to the conventions of the society must be producing farmers.

The following officers were elected: J. A. Everitt of Indianapolis, president; W. E. Creflick of Travis City, Mich., vice-president; J. C. Rous of Indianapolis, treasurer. The directors are: N. N. Ashby of Sebree, Ky.; J. A. Myers of Ramsey, N. J.; R. Sherad of Keosauqua, Ia.; W. H. Mitchell of Hutchinson, Kan.; L. H. Johnson of Attica, Ind.; and F. W. Morris of Rochester, Minn.

Victim of Crime Is Found.

Detroit, Mich.—The almost nude body of an unknown man, 35 to 40 years old, was found Thursday in a sack bound with ropes and a driving rein in Lapham's Lane, Springwells township. The man's throat was cut from ear to ear, there was a bullet hole in one temple and the back of his head was crushed in. Apparently he had been dead three weeks.

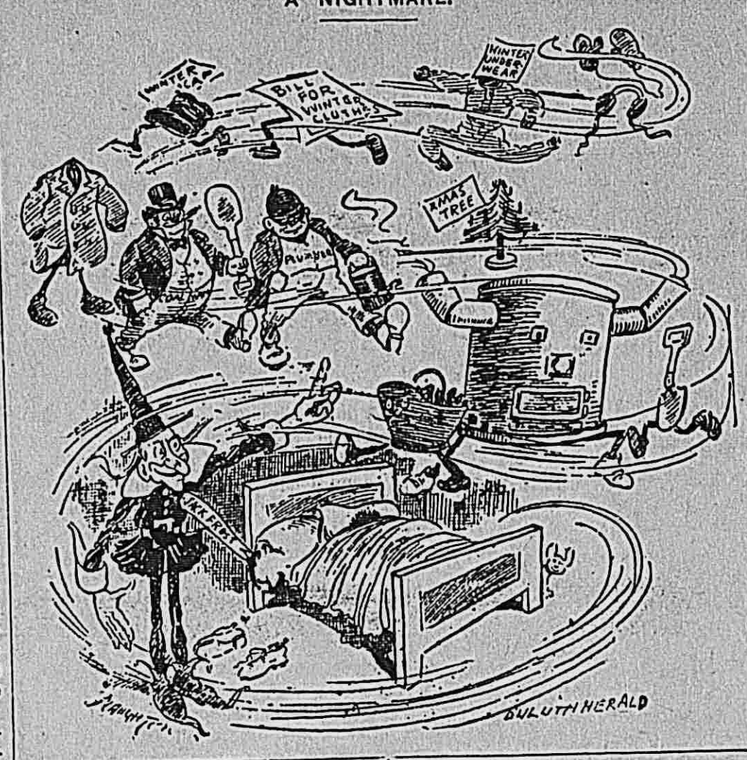

Big Lease of Grazing Land.

Winnipeg, Man.—A syndicate of Minnesota, Montana and Oregon cattlemen have leased 10,000 acres of grazing land near Chilico lake, some distance from the head of Butte Inlet, British Columbia, and thousands of yearlings will be shipped in.

Double Tragedy in Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky.—At Heidelberg, Lee county, Sunday, Ephraim Angel and Harvey Ross engaged in a fight, and as a result Angel was shot and killed and Ross was fatally injured.

A NIGHTMARE.

SQUADRON TOUCHES ISLES

FIRST SECTION OF ATLANTIC FLEET AT OLONGAPO.

Second Division at Amoy, China, Tells Indifference of the Natives—Few "Passes" Cause.

The weather was fine throughout the entire trip from Japan and the ships have been occupied with squadron evolutions and careful preparations for target practice. Otherwise the journey has been uneventful. Wireless communication will be maintained with Manila while the fleet is at Olongapo.

Amoy. — Chinese people were indifferent regarding the arrival here Friday of the second squadron of the United States Atlantic fleet. Only a few natives turned out to see the battleships composing the strongest naval force that ever entered this port.

Not more than 100 Chinese guests were admitted to the grounds on which the celebration planned for the reception of the American officers and sailors was held, and resentment at the severe measures to exclude the natives was the cause of the apathy. The British consul issued a circular stating that the local officials have declined to issue more than 60 passes to the inclosure to British subjects and that in consequence he refused to accept one.

The fleet appeared off Tai-Tan island at 6:30 a. m. Friday, having been met ten miles out at sea by the torpedo gunboat Fei-Ying, which escorted the visitors to their anchorage. The ships entered the harbor in single file, the Louisiana, flagship of Rear Admiral William H. Emory, leading, and after forming a double line they dropped their anchors at 9:30 o'clock while the forts on shore and the flagship of the Chinese squadron, the Hai-Chi, fired the usual salutes, to which the Americans responded.

JAMES KERR PASSES AWAY.

Democratic National Committeeman Dies at New Rochelle, N. Y.

New York. — James Kerr, Democratic national committeeman from Pennsylvania, died Saturday morning at his summer home in New Rochelle, following an operation for an intestinal disorder which had made him practically an invalid for a year. His wife and sons were with him at the end.

William J. Bryan visited Mr. Kerr last Monday, and the latter was much elated over the visit of the Democratic candidate, but almost immediately afterward suffered a nervous collapse which greatly aggravated his already weakened condition. There have been several consultations of physicians within the last few days, and it was determined Friday that the only chance of saving Mr. Kerr's life lay in performing an operation.

Helpless Inmates Rescued.

Rome, N. Y.—Ward building B of the state custodial asylum here for feeble-minded women was burned Sunday. There were about 150 patients in the building, including the old and decrepit, about 30 of whom were confined to beds. All the sick and helpless were safely removed. It will cost $100,000 to replace the burned building and $25,000 to furnish it.

Crew of Burning Vessel Saved.

New York.—The crew of the schooner Lulie L. Pollard of Philadelphia were brought to port Sunday by the steamer Admiral Schley, having been rescued at sea from their burning vessel Saturday.

Murder Mystery Uncovered.

Washington.—Through the finding Sunday of the skeleton of a man on the historic Mt. Vernon estate, at one time the home of George Washington, the authorities of Fairfax county, Va., have to solve what appears to be a murder mystery. Gate-keeper Vickers, employe of the estate, discovered the skeleton, together with the dead man's clothes, a gold watch, a bottle of whisky and a calendar. Upon the calendar the name "Antonio" was written, and a bullet was discovered among the bones.

ROOSEVELT AIDS HEALTH MOVE.

Promises to Make Recommendation in Next Message.

New York. — That President Roosevelt has agreed to recommend to congress in his next message the passage of a law to conserve the public health, similar to the one proposed by the American Medical association, was the statement made in an address before the New York Academy of Medicine by Dr. Charles A. L. Reed of Cincinnati, chairman of the association's committee on national medical legislation. In speaking on the campaign for national health laws, Dr. Reed said:

"On the heels of the various steps forward I am gratified to be able to assure you that the president has authorized the statement that he will formulate definite proposals and transmit them with his indorsement to the next congress. It now devolves upon the 13,000 doctors in the United States not only to back the president in his work, but to anticipate those actions by a persistent campaign in behalf of this fundamental feature of the public welfare."

BIG PARADE OF CATHOLICS.

Forty Thousand Men of Boston Diocese in Procession.

Boston.—What was probably the greatest parade of a religious character in the history of New England brought to a close Sunday the centenary celebration of the founding of the Roman Catholic diocese of Boston, which was begun on Wednesday last. It is estimated that fully 40,000 men representing the Holy Name societies of the Roman Catholic churches in the five counties which constitute the diocese, with over 150 priests, participated, marching to the music of 100 bands. Thousands of spectators filled every point of vantage along the line of march.

Passing before the archiepiscopal residence on Bay Street road, the parade was reviewed by Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop William H. O'Connell, together with a number of visiting prelates.

AUTO ACCOMPANIES A BALLOON.

Thus Aeronauts May Return to Starting Point Easily.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Something new in aeronautics was attempted here Friday afternoon when a monster balloon with a capacity of 110,000 cubic feet of gas shot up into the air with an automobile in the place where a basket is usually suspended. The ascension was made in the north part of the city, the balloon carrying two occupants—Carl G. Fisher of Indianapolis and G. L. Baumbaugh of Springfield, Ill. The idea of the aeronauts in using an automobile instead of the usual basket is to be able to immediately roll up the balloon, load it in the automobile and return to the place of starting or other destination.

Leavenworth, Kan.—The main line of the Kansas National Gas Company, which supplies gas to consumers between the gas fields at Independence and the cities of Atchison, Kan., and St. Joseph, Mo., and which furnishes all the gas used in the two latter towns, burst three miles north of Leavenworth Sunday. The accident left the towns of Lawrence, Atchison and St. Joseph completely without gas light and heat Sunday night.

Belgium to Rule Congo.

Washington.—Belgium is to assume sovereignty over the Congo, which has been annexed by treaty on the fifteenth of November, says a dispatch to the state department.

Orville Wright Goes Home.

Abruzzi to Wed in Secret.

Naples.—The latest sensation to be reported concerning the duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins is that the couple will marry privately and unknown to the public in order to escape the curiosity of the crowd.

ADMIT THEIR CRIME

JOHN KURKA AND MRS. SCHULTZ CONFESS TO MURDER.

GUILTY LOVE THE MOTIVE

Michigan Prisoners Tell Police How Woman's Husband Was Slain by His Half-Brother and Body Hidden.

Detroit, Mich.—After confessing their guilt to the police Monday, John Kurka, a teamster, and Mrs. Anthony Schultz were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Gerhard in Hamtranck township and pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering Mrs. Schultz's husband, who was a half-brother of Kurka.

The latter said that the crime was attributable to an illicit affection between himself and his half-brother's wife. Kurka had been living in the home of the Schultz couple.

"Annie, I've told them all about it," said Kurka, when the woman was brought before the police after Kurka's confession, and the woman dropped, sobbing and hysterical, into a chair. The police officials sat silent for ten minutes until she controlled herself, and then listened to her story.

According to the two confessions, the police say, Schultz was murdered in his bed about 3:30 a. m., the wife in another room being able to hear the fatal blow of the ax each time it fell. She then was called into the room and lifted the feet of the dead man as Kurka lifted the shoulders while they carried the body to the green dump wagon in which Kurka took it from the extreme northeastern limits of the city, down through Detroit's business section, seven miles, to the secluded lane in the western suburbs, where it was later found hidden under a pile of straw.

BIG FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

Lumber Yards Are Destroyed, the Loss Being $750,000.

Philadelphia.—A spectacular fire that was marked by many thrilling incidents destroyed the lumber yards of R. A. & J. J. Williams, in the northwestern section of the city Monday night, entailing a loss estimated at $750,000.

While the fire was in its incipiency Harry Wilkinson, a fireman, drove chemical engine No. 45 into the yard between the big piles of lumber. The flames ate their way around the engine, and Wilkinson and a companion narrowly escaped with their lives. They could not get the apparatus away from the flames and both horses were burned to death. Wilkinson was seriously burned trying to save the animals. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

JUMPS OVER THE FALLS.

C. A. Hengerer of Buffalo Commits Suicide at Niagara.

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—Charles A. Hengerer, son of the late William Hengerer and former vice-president of the William Hengerer Company, one of the largest department stores in Buffalo, committed suicide here Monday by jumping into the river and going over the falls.

Hengerer was connected with the Willis K. Morgan Company, a Buffalo furniture and draperies store. He was at work in the morning and appeared to be in a normal state of mind. No cause for suicide is known. He retired from the William Hengerer Company soon after the death of his father.

ONE DEATH; SCHOOLS CLOSED.

St. Joseph Suffers Because of Broken Natural Gas Main.

St. Joseph, Mo.—One death by asphyxiation, the dismissal of all schools heated with natural gas and cold meals as the result of no fuel, was the result Monday of the breaking, near Leavenworth, Kan., of a natural gas main, with which St. Joseph is supplied most of its light and heat. The gas was shut off until five o'clock Monday evening. Joseph Chartrand was found dead in his room, it is thought, as the result of the fire going out and fumes escaping when the gas was turned on again.

Cotton Warehouse Is Burned.

Philadelphia.—Fire of unknown origin burned out the cotton warehouse of Philip Godley, at Front and Queen streets in the lower section of the city, Monday, entailing a loss estimated at $50,000. Five firemen were overcome by smoke.

Overdue British Ship Arrives.

San Francisco.—The British ship Acamas, Capt. Hughes, upon which reinsurance of ten per cent. was quoted, has arrived here after a voyage of 190 days from Rotterdam.

Serious Floods in Formosa.

Victoria, B. C.—News was brought by the steamer Antilochus of heavy floods and great loss of life in Formosa. All the rivers in the neighborhood of Keelung, Ciram and Tanko overflowed and 40 junks were wrecked.

Killed by an Airship Propeller.

Girard, Kan.—H. W. Strubble, an employe of the Call airship, was instantly killed Monday afternoon while the propellers on the ship were being tried out. One of the rear propellers struck the victim on the head.

LAME BACK PRESCRIPTION

The increased use of whiskey for lame back rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following formula is effective: "To one-half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris Compound and one ounce Syrup Sarsaparilla Compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it as well as the other ingredients can be had from any good druggist.

A Difficult Task.

An old Irish laborer walked into the luxurious studio of a New York artist and asked for money to obtain a meal, as he was too weak to work.

The artist gave him a quarter and then, seeing possibilities for a sketch in the queer old fellow, said: "I'll give you a dollar if you'll let me paint you."

"Sure," said the man, "it's an easy way to make a dollar, but, but—I'm wonderin' how I'd get it off."

I AM A MOTHER

How many American women in lonely homes to-day long for this blessing to come into their lives, and to be able to utter these words, but because of some organic derangement this happiness is denied them.

Every woman interested in this subject should know that preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by the use of

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Maggie Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I was greatly run-down in health from a weakness peculiar to my sex, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. It not only restored me to perfect health, but to my delight I am a mother."

Mrs. Josephine Hall, of Bardstown, Ky., writes: "I was a very great sufferer from female troubles, and my physician failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound not only restored me to perfect health, but I am now a proud mother."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Gossip of People and Events Gathered in Washington

Dance to Mark Social Debut of Ethel

WASHINGTON.—The date for the coming out dance of Miss Roosevelt, the president's second daughter, has been set for Monday, December 28. While this will mark her debut into the social life of the younger set, as has been announced before, the first state dinner she attends will really mean her formal debut. This dinner will be the first cabinet dinner of the season and will be given shortly before Christmas.

Though the announcement sent out from the White House describes the entertainment as a "small" dance, the number of invitations will not fall far short of 1,000. The dance will be held in the East room of the White House, and, according to present intentions, will follow the plan adopted when Miss Alice Roosevelt came out, that of dispensing with the cotillion.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt have maintained that entertainments given to the young members of their family should be as personal as possible. When Miss Alice Roosevelt made her debut even the first assistant secretary of state was not invited, and, in general, that rule will be followed this year. Miss Roosevelt is only 18 years old, and the guests will probably be the youngest assemblage of the kind that ever gathered in the White House.

The fact that the dance will be given during the holidays means that a special effort will be made to have on hand Miss Roosevelt's school friends from New York and the college mates of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Her brother will come to Washington for the occasion, and Miss Christine Roosevelt and Miss Dorothy Roosevelt, cousins of the debutante, are also expected.

In all, about 200 young New Yorkers will be invited. At least that number was present at Miss Alice's debut, and the president has been careful that his children should not weaken their affiliations with their New York friends. Young Theodore will bring with him a number of his Harvard college mates, and perhaps one or two of the friends he has made since going into the carpetmaking business. The list of those to be invited is almost completed, and the invitations will be sent out very shortly.

The debut of Miss Roosevelt is expected to introduce a very gay winter at the capital. Since the marriage of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Congressman Nicholas Longworth in 1906, the White House has been voted a dull place by young people.

Blase Bachelors of National Capital

THE man question is the most serious proposition a fashionable girl in Washington has to contend with.

Trouble No. 1 is, there aren't any men. Trouble No. 2 is, the men that there are—that's good Irish—are so spoiled to death they are a negligible quantity.

Said a religious young woman in the innermost clique the other day: "Conditions in Washington are fierce where male creatures are concerned. Men have no obligations—no responsibilities. They seem to think they are conferring a favor on the opposite sex by simply existing. Of course, for many a long day they have absolved themselves from the duty of paying dinner and party calls—it was kind enough in them to come in the first place—but half the time they don't even answer your notes of invitation. We girls have discovered that the only way to clinch the men when we really must have them at our affairs, is to catch them on the telephone before they have time to dodge. Extort a verbal promise that they will come, and to facilitate things offer to send a carriage for them as well. You might add a bunch of American beauties besides," the girl laughed sardonically, "and a handsome souvenir to boot."

"In ancestral days," the young woman went on, "I believe it was the privilege of the 'beaux' to pay all the expenses of the spree when they took the girls to balls and rooms. Not so in 1908. It's a Thanksgiving day to a girl if she can corral a partner for the cotillion, even when she pays her own subscription fee and supplies her own carriage and flowers. It takes money to be a girl nowadays. For example, one can't be anybody and not be a member of the Sixty Couples Cotillion in Washington. Tickets for each occasion are three dollars apiece, without counting the extras.

"Does the partner whom you may possibly have secured by treason and stratagem bear any of the expenses of your evening? Not by a jugful. 'Heavy, heavy, hangs on your poor head,' financially speaking, and the beneficent beings in evening clothes feel that they have performed the whole office of man in simply allowing you to gush over them in gratitude for being there. Masculine stock is way above par, and a man who knows how to dance, or will dance if he knows how to, instead of swelling the mob of blase blackcoats near the exits of ballrooms, idle and unproductive, is indeed a bonanza."

Texas Doctor a Picturesque Figure

PERHAPS the most picturesque figure at the International Tuberculosis congress, in session here lately, was Dr. A. J. Beall of San Marcus, Tex. Dr. Beall is 85 years old, has been a practicing physician in Texas for more than half a century, and, because of his long record and his fidelity as a practitioner, is one of the best beloved men in the Lone Star state.

Dr. Beall's trip to Washington was intended to be the closing and crowning feature of his career. When he returns to his home at San Marcus, so he told his friends and patients before he left, it will be as a man retired from active professional pursuits—a private citizen.

The esteem in which the veteran physician is held by his neighbors is attested in a way by the fact that he was urged to make the trip to Washington by and at the expense of his friends in and near San Marcus. The fund to pay the expense of the trip was not contributed by any one philanthrophically inclined person, but by the entire community. The money was raised by a popular subscription.

The doctor came to Washington on the special train of the Texas delegation, and during the week was an interested, as well as an interesting, participator in the proceedings and demonstrations of the congress.

Another enthusiastic Texas delegate was Dr. W. T. Jones of Fort Davis. The day before Dr. Jones left his home at Fort Davis to come to Washington he rode horseback 45 miles into the country to see a patient. The round trip was 90 miles. The following day he rode 60 miles to the railroad station, where he joined the other delegates bound for Washington. The doctor, being used to such experiences, was not greatly fatigued by his two trips through the country.

Here's a "Bughouse" Job for Some One

A "PREPARATOR" is now wanted by the bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture to assist in making the bug business profitable to the government or to the rural communities. The ruralists have found that they had a legal excuse to advance the prices on eggs because the bug crop was cut short by the dry weather, and there were no bugs for the chickens to eat.

So the preparator is to prepare bugs for chicken feed and other uses. At the civil service examination to be held soon embryo preparators will be required to assemble ten specimens of lepidoptera that will be furnished them and the one who succeeds in matching the dissected pieces of the ten bugs will be entitled to the price, which is a position at $50 a month and board yourself or beat the landlady.

Those who fail in the examination will be entitled to admission to the bughouse on the proper presentation of credentials. Another examination will be held for applicants for the position of aid in the division of insects of the National museum. This department pays better salaries than the department of agriculture, as the salary is $75 a month. The government also wants a chief for the cattle and grain investigation laboratory.

The bureau of corporations, department of commerce and labor, wants special examiners at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $3,500 a year.

LIVED ON TEN CENTS A WEEK.

Bill Doolittle's System a Good One, But Not Attractive.

"D'y'u find smoking hurts y'u?" asks Hi Biddle, a Yankee lawyer, in Willie Brook's story, "The Solar Machine," in Harper's.

"It probably doesn't do me any good," I said; "but I'd have trouble quitting it."

"No, y'u wouldn't. Smoke this." He took from his vest pocket the fellow to the stogey in his mouth and tossed it across the table to me. "Ever hear how Bill Doolittle lived on ten cents a week?"

I confessed that Bill's economies had never been brought to my attention.

"Wal," said Biddle, "he took dinner with a friend on Sunday, an' ate enough to last 'im till Wednesday. Then he bought ten cents' wuth o' tripe, an' he hated tripe so like thunder that it lasted 'im the rest o' the week. These seegars work a good deal like that tripe. You take to smokin' 'em, an' y'u won't want more'n one or two a day."

15 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

Burning, Painful Sores on Legs—Tortured Day and Night—Tried Many Remedies to No Avail—Cured by Cuticura.

"After an attack of rheumatism, running sores broke out on my husband's legs, from below the knees to the ankles. There are no words to tell all the discomforts and great suffering he had to endure night and day. He used every kind of remedy and three physicians treated him, one after the other, without any good results whatever. One day I ordered some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. He began to use them and in three weeks all the sores were died up! The burning fire stopped, and the pains became bearable. After three months he was quite well. I can prove this testimonial at any time. Mrs. V. V. Albert, Upper Frenchville, Me., July 21, 1907."

LOCATED.

"Goodness, sonny, are you in pain?"
"Naw, the pain's in me—boo-hoo!"

Putting It Politely.

It was evident that the directors were very nervous. Anxiously they awaited the coming of the president, who had summoned them in haste. At length he appeared, greatly distressed.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I am very sorry to say that it is my duty to impart to you some disagreeable news. I assure you that this is the saddest day of my life. I would rather have cut off my right arm than been compelled to send for you on an occasion of this kind. It is most—"

"What's the matter?" one of the directors impatiently asked.

"The cashier has aviated."

Well Prepared.

"I learn," she said reproachfully, "that you were devoted to no fewer than five girls before you finally proposed to me. How do I know that you didn't make desperate love to all of them?"

"I did," he replied, promptly.

"You did!" she exclaimed.

"Certainly," he returned. "You don't suppose for a moment that I would be foolhardy enough to try for such a prize as you are without practicing a little first, do you?"

PUZZLE SOLVED.

Coffee at Bottom of Trouble.

It takes some people a long time to find out that coffee is hurting them.

But when once the fact is clear, most people try to keep away from the thing which is followed by ever increasing detriment to the heart, stomach and nerves.

"Until two years ago I was a heavy coffee drinker," writes an Ill. stockman, "and had been all my life. I am now 56 years old.

"About three years ago I began to have nervous spells and could not sleep nights, was bothered by indigestion, bloating, and gas on stomach affected my heart.

"I spent lots of money doctoring—one doctor told me I had chronic catarrh of the stomach; another that I had heart disease and was liable to die at any time. They all dieted me until I was nearly starved but I seemed to get worse instead of better.

"Having heard of the good Postum had done for nervous people, I discarded coffee altogether and began to use Postum regularly. I soon got better, and now, after nearly two years, I can truthfully say I am sound and well.

"I sleep well at night, do not have the nervous spells and am not bothered with indigestion or palpitation. I weigh 32 pounds more than when I began Postum, and am better every way than I ever was while drinking coffee. I can't say too much in praise of Postum, as I am sure it saved my life." "There's a Reason."

KEPT GETTING WORSE.

Five Years of Awful Kidney Disease.

Nat Anderson, Greenwood, S. C., says: "Kidney trouble began about five years ago with dull backache, which got so severe in time that I could not get around. The kidney secretions became badly disordered, and at times there was almost a complete stop of the flow. I was examined again and again and treated to no avail, and kept getting worse. I have to praise Doan's Kidney Pills for my final relief and cure. Since using them I have gained in strength and flesh and have no sign of kidney trouble."

Unusually Severe Drought.

The water in Lake Champlain during the recent drought reached the lowest point recorded in local history, nine feet below high water mark. Steamers were obliged to abandon many of their trips on account of the impossibility of making landings at the docks. The mountain brooks became almost dry, and the beds of some of the largest rivers were mere threads of water. The drought and forest fires were ruinous to agricultural interests.—New York Sun.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Savagery in Civilization.

It is no time to say that man cannot, in civilized society, be guilty of cannabilism. I tell you there are more cannibals in New York than in the isles of the Pacific; and if to-day you were suddenly to take away the support that comes from eating men, there would be thousands and thousands of empty maws to-morrow in that city.—Henry Ward Beecher.

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises.

It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Sloan's Liniment

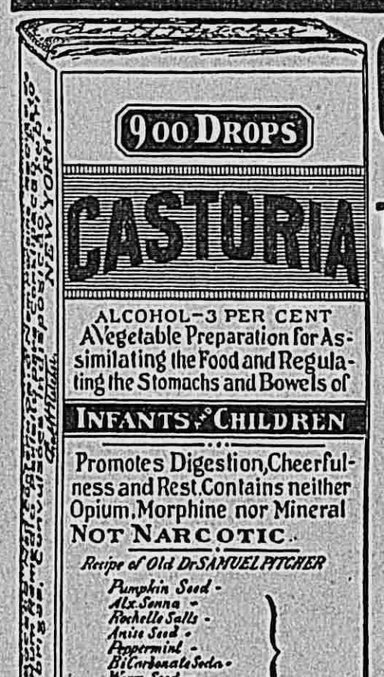

is an excellent antiseptic and germ killer—heals cuts, burns, wounds and contusions, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

Price, 25c., 50c., and $1.00.
